LOCAL & LONG DISTANCE

CPNI STATEMENT

Affinity sells local and long distance telecommunications services. Affinity's marketing to existing customers consists only of marketing additional local services to existing local customers and of marketing additional long distance services to existing long distance customers. Affinity therefore does not collect opt-in or opt-out authorizations from customers for such use.

Affinity does not share, sell, lease or otherwise provide CPNI to any of its affiliates, suppliers, vendors or any other third parties for the purposes of marketing any services. Sharing, selling, leasing or otherwise providing CPNI to any third parties, other than for billing purposes, for the provision, maintenance and repair of services, to protect rights or property of the Company, or pursuant to legal process, is prohibited by the Company. Disclosure in these instances are only made after such entities have executed a contract with Affinity that includes provisions protecting the confidentiality of Affinity's customer information.

Maintaining the privacy of customers' information, including CPNI, is a condition of employment at Affinity. Affinity employees are barred from disclosing customer confidential information and are prohibited from removing confidential information upon conclusion of employment with the Affinity. Violation of this policy may result in, among other actions, suspension of work, duties, diminution of responsibilities or demotion, and termination of employment. Furthermore, personnel who are authorized to access customer information are trained in the authorized uses of this information. Any employee who violates the authorized procedures for access to this information is subject to discipline, up to and including termination of employment.
